If you understand what you read or hear, you can talk about general topics and can write relatively straightforward texts, it's time to check if you have an intermediate level of English. Take it at first and then take it again later. At this level, you will need to use many verbs and cannot allow a conjugation damage error to the coherence of your tenses. But be sure to master the following topics: can you use the main tenses? B1 is one of the CEFR levels described by the Council of Europe. The reproduction of part or all of its content is prohibited without our prior written permission. It is very likely that you will be tested on critical topics such as prepositions, comparisons, time adverbs, adjectives made of verbs and connectors. It has been proven that our brain assimilates knowledge better through enjoyable experiences. Our 144-unit course covers all six levels of CEFR and is designed to meet the certification requirements of the most prestigious institutions. If you test yourself frequently, you will know how much you have improved as a result of your preparation. We offer a plan that covers all the topics you need to master at the B1 level. The tests will go a step further, trying to identify whether you are able to use the correct word in specific situations. The ability to express themselves in a limited way in familiar situations and to deal with non-routine information in general. At this level, students are beyond the basic level, but are still unable to work or study exclusively in English. You can understand the main clear standard entry points on family matters encountered regularly at work, school, leisure etc. From there, you can prepare yourself with our revolutionary learning method, which you will definitely love . We will share some of our benefits with you: we innovate and the result is our excellent method: smart learning. Come on!
